UW-Extension (UWEX) supports, empowers, and engages the citizens of Winnebago County through education, unbiased research, and local partnerships. UWEX programming transforms lives, organizations, and communities by meeting needs, tackling tough issues, and growing these entities to be more resilient and better prepared to meet challenges.

We serve the diverse population of approximately 170,000 rural, suburban and urban residents of the county. From youth development programs in the heart of Neenah and Menasha, to farm business counseling in the rural corners of the county, to families working to make ends meet, UWEX educators work to meet the educational needs of all county residents.

We leverage dollars to address community issues, work with a large variety of community partners, and train and empower citizen volunteers to augment our work.

Thriving Youth, Families, Organizations and Communities

UWEX creates thriving youth, families, and communities by building the capacity of volunteers, leaders, professionals, and organizations in Winnebago County.

New in 2015...

Making the Ride Happen (MRH), a mobility management program of Lutheran Social Services, partnered with East Central Regional Planning Commission and UWEX in Winnebago and Outagamie Counties to help them. MRH had a strategic direction to expand their program to serve more elderly and veterans. Doing so would require expansion of volunteer services and mobility management functions.

The team learned they needed to better understand the characteristics of the potential demand of future users. UWEX created a survey to understand people’s transportation behaviors. The survey project was piloted in the rural town of Winneconne and with the Winnebago County Veterans Service Office to gather input from rural residents and veterans alike. Responses from the pilot survey indicated that roughly 50% of respondents would seek transportation assistance should they develop a medical condition. Additionally, 40% of respondents were not aware at all of transportation programs such as Making the Ride Happen.
Winnebago County became the first pilot of an on-line parent conversation group “Parentheticals.” The Facebook conversation and a bi-weekly newsletter targets parents and those who live and work with children ages 10-16.

Block Parties were also introduced to the county. These parent-child events educate parents on the importance of devoted play time with their children. Three events reached more than 75 families in our first effort.

Resilient & Productive Environments

Natural resources are integral to the communities of Winnebago County. Addressing their ecological health is complex, with many potential paths leading to a sustainable environment.

New in 2015...

To help protect the aesthetic, economical, and environmental benefits of the County’s urban forest, UW-Extension (UWEX) is playing a role in multiple efforts. UWEX helped facilitate a tree inventory and tracking system, prepared the “Winnebago County Urban Forestry & Emerald Ash Borer (EAB) Management Plan”, and assisted in developing a management program that includes treatment of ash trees from EAB, removal of risk trees, and planting of new trees. Efforts will lead to efficiencies in maintenance activities and budgets, along with safer public spaces.

Health, Food Safety & Security

Part of transforming a community is helping citizens make healthy, informed choices in their life and making sure that everyone has access to safe, nutritious, and affordable food.

New in 2015...

For over 40 years, UWEX has supported a community garden. Grant funds were used in 2015 to hire an outreach coordinator to work with Hmong Gardeners to learn more about their techniques and to bridge relationships between gardeners.

Ongoing programs...

Through our Wisconsin Nutrition Education Program, our educators reached nearly 5,000 people in schools and community sites. The program helps limited-income families and individuals learn meal planning, and safe food preparation/storage leading to better choices and healthy changes in their lives.

Research based home food preservation information is shared via community presentations, publications and one-on-one instructions.

Master Gardener volunteers responded to gardening questions from 315 residents, conducted community projects and connected seniors and the disabled to healthy food through therapeutic gardening.
Stronger Economies

Growing stronger economies means supporting business development and growth, creating cross-sector support for businesses, and teaching families how to stretch their budgets.

New in 2015...

Conversations with Economic development professionals in the Fox Valley and Oshkosh area indicate that a significant barrier to workforce development is exposing youth to actual businesses and connecting young people’s experiences with job skills. In response, UW-Extension (UWEX) developed a workforce skills survey for 4-H youth and adults in the county. The purpose of the survey is to understand the desires of youth and parents with respect to workforce skills development and how it relates to skills employers seek.

Statistics show that 70% of family business owners plan to retire in 10 years. Without proper business succession planning a loss of even a few businesses in areas like the City of Omro could have negative economic impacts. UWEX worked with representatives from UW-Oshkosh Small Business Development Center and the Wisconsin Family Business Forum to address this need by sponsoring a business succession planning presentation in Omro. Fifteen people representing six different communities attended.

Ongoing programs...

Teaching youth Science, Technology, Engineering & Math (STEM) skills continues through monthly LEGO® Club meetings and events like National Youth Science Day.

Fifteen youth completed a six week tractor and farm safety course. Course participants earn certification allowing them to work on a farm, adding manpower to the farm labor force.
